

Tuesday, January 17, 2012

Zero Waste Program Development and Implementation

ICI (Industrial, Commercial, & Institutional) & Special Event Planning

This workshop will provide the fundamentals of “Zero Waste Program” development and Implementation. The workshop will give program managers and special event planners the tools necessary for successful zero waste program development, planning and implementation.

Instructor: Peter Klaich

Peter has more than a decade of international and domestic experience and expertise with compostable food service ware (ASTM 6400 certified) and zero waste program development and implementation.

Speakers/Round Table Discussion:

- John Connolly, Pres., JF Connolly Associates, industry expert, is an operations-focused, business management consulting firm with concentration in the operational, economic, and environmental advantages of sustainable business practices centered on diverting food waste and other organics to anaerobic digestion, composting, and renewable energy alternatives
- Steve Chiv, Zero Waste Special Projects, San Francisco County, CA, a world class municipal program show casing the art of zero waste program development and implementation
- Andy Taylor, Organix Recycling, green hauler.

Time: 1:00 PM to 5:00 PM

Workshop Cost: $145 USCC members | $195 non-members

Limited to a maximum of 40 attendees